

Alexandra Writes

NEWSLETTER / BLOG SUMMARY -- WINTER 2016

Here's my yearly blog summary. Thanks for your encouragement. (This PDF does not include the photos in the original newsletter.)

Best wishes, Alexandra Rochman

58 years and counting

Love makes life worthwhile.

Happiness because of you,

My soul-mate, my love.

Celebrating Seven

Seven seas and scales,

Seven rainbow colors and

Years of loving you.

Silhouette

Heron silhouette

Wingspan wide as outstretched arms

Glimpse of simple joy

Impasse

Standoff between them

Bunny plans her escape route

Brown dog starts the chase

Claire Cook's Reinvention

Can an author be a mentor or a heroine? You bet. Claire Cook is one for me. I've met her three times, and each left a lasting impression. I love her tag line: "Write. Reinvent. Share." I spoke with her for the first time at the Decatur Book Festival. I let her know that Read More ...

Prima Amphibia

Tadpole pirouettes

Ballerina frog en pointe

The pond is your stage

Zona Rosa Rules

Photo by Jonathan Phillips Faithfully, every month, I drive to Buckhead, Georgia for an evening workshop with Rosemary Daniell, founder of Zona Rosa. These meetings are long, beginning at 6:00pm and go until midnight sometimes, but well worth my time with the dozen or so women that gather around her. As Rosemary reads our manuscripts Read More ...

Facebook Twitter Google+ Pinterest LinkedIn Tumblr

You received this email because you subscribed for it as rocky.rochman@outlook.com. If you'd like, you can unsubscribe.